“Education Problems and its Solution”

Your struggles of today will help create your future, so you must accept it, change your thoughts and ultimately your life will change. The lessons of struggles and adversity are not taught in any school and you should consider them as an opportunity for growth. Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj did not make excuses for difficulties and we are all aware of how with a few of his trusted lieutenants and colleagues of all religions, he conquered all the hurdles that came in his path.

In your student life, you will have to face numerous difficulties. Primarily, students who are economically underprivileged and on the other hand those who are financially well off have to face the most difficulties. The economically underprivileged students have to fight for basic educational facilities, like finding accommodation in a new city, where hostels and private residences are expensive. These students can work out a solution by staying with relatives or using cheaper accommodation. The other burning issue for such students is the inevitable need for enrolling in coaching classes. Many colleges conduct irregular classes, hence students are forced to join expensive coaching classes.

As a result, this unhealthy atmosphere which is unconducive to learning directly or indirectly affects the health and educational progress of the students. This shows in their unexpectedly poor results. Many students can ill afford coaching classes, study as much as and how best they can on their own and answer the paper. This also affects the student's education.

The third important issue is that after Class 10 and 12 results are announced, students in the rural area lack proper guidance on the admission process. Due to this, even the smallest mistakes made by the students, while filling up the entrance forms could prove harmful or could even cost them their careers.

Such students then compare themselves to those students have access to all facilities, which creates a sense of educational inequality in their minds and they might go into depression.

Due to all the comforts of life or due to parents' negligence, some pampered children misuse gadgets like mobile phone, computers, etc. and even get addicted to them. Parents do not have the time to pay proper attention to such problems, due to which the students' educational level deteriorates. There is also a very high possibility of such students falling into the wrong company.

There is a strong need for a competent platform, which can counsel and find a proper educational solution for these affected students. There are some organizations in society, which are passionately working to solve such issues of problematic students. One such student-centric organization, which is focused on its mission and doing noble work in the educational field in Jalgaon District has been established due to the bountiful generosity of Respected Shri Suresh Dada Jain, is SD-SEED (Suresh Dada Scheme for Educational & Entrepreneurial Development).

This organization studies the problems of the students and makes continuous efforts to find practical solutions for all the issues. SD-SEED is supported by dignitaries from all fields of Jalgaon District, who offer their expertise for the development of the organization.

This seed planted in 2008 has grown to a massive tree and today many students are enjoying its fruits. Hence I feel like saying – ‘शुद्ध ;एसडीईड बिजापोटी ;सीडईड फळे रसाळ गोमटी’. Today I am very content seeing the magnificent development of SD-SEED. We can make a small contribution to achieving unity and equality in society, by eliminating the economic gaps and discrimination in society through education. Lastly, I would like to advice students, when you are faced with any problem or a difficult situation, do not be fearful or blame your fate or the situation, but focus and complete your work. For example, Dr. Ambedkar courageously faced adverse difficulties and reached the pinnacle of success. There is time fixed for everything. You should always have patience and persevere for the right opportunity, even the moon has to wait for the darkness of the night to be able to shine. Hence, be patient and wait for the right moment.

Best wishes and greetings to SD-SEED, the noble organization which is dedicated to the service of students.

Yoga: The highway to happiness

In today's stressful life, our progress is hampered due to the big and small problems we face. These problems have made our lives more demanding and have led to multiple health related issues, such as mental disorders, depression, loneliness, diabetes, high blood pressure, heart attack, digestive disorders, asthma, etc. and we are faced with a bleak picture of a healthy future.

Some people have the ability to come out of such situations. However, there are others who might get discouraged when faced with the same situation and as a result, they live stressful lives. Yoga is great source of new life for such individuals.

There are two types of Yoga. The first is 'Yujir Yogo' and another is 'Yuj Samadhau.' Yujir Yogo means to join and Yuj Samadhau means to take Samadhi or be in a position of peace and calmness. Man forgets his basic nature, loses focus on his goals and gets lost in illusionary world by building castles in the air, all this leads to depression and despair. Yoga is the only means to take a person out of this state of mind and bring him to a state of peace and calmness.

If there is an imbalance in our mind, body and intelligence, we are in a state of unhappiness. Our mind, intelligence and soul should come together, which help us in self-realization and further we can go on the path of revitalization and recovery. Therefore, Maharishi Patanjali when defining Yoga says, 'योगश्चित्तवृत्तिनिरोधः', which means, we should control our attitude, keep our mind calm and peaceful.

In his epic writing 'Patanjal Yoga Sutra,' Maharishi Patanjali describes Asthang Yoga, which help to control the mind and attitude. The following eight key elements are includes in it:

1. Yama: The five steps to be followed, i.e. Ahimsa (Non-violence), Satya (Truthfulness), Brahmacharya (Control of the senses and celibacy), Asteya (Non-stealing) and Aparigraha (Non-covetousness and non-acceptance of gifts)
2. Niyama: The five observances, i.e. Saucha (Purity, Cleanliness), Santosha (Contentment), Tapas (Austerity), Swadhyaya (Self-study, Study of scriptures) and Ishwara Pranidhana (Surrender to God's will)
3. Aasna: Keep your body and mind in a steady and pleasant state
4. Pranayam: Control and extension of prana or life force
5. Pratyahar: The withdrawal of the five senses
6. Dharna: Concentration
7. Dhyana: Meditation
8. Samadhi: Deep realization and inner union

Common man to reach the state of Samadhi needs to start from the first step of Yama and attempt to achieve his goal.

1. Aasna: physical fitness
2. Shuddhi kriya: cleansing or purity of the body
3. Pranayam: mental health and development of breathing or force of life

Yoga is beyond the experimental sciences of Religion, Faith and Trust. Hence, all of us should be aware of our potential and try to incorporate Yoga in our day-to-day life under expert guidance of a Yoga Teacher. This will help us to achieve and enhance optimum physical and mental health and will be beneficial for ourselves, our family and society at large and help us lead a happy and peaceful life.

An opportunity for you

The 10th and 12th std. exams are a major milestone in a student's life. On completion of which, students are faced with the crucial question of career stream to pursue. Some students choose their streams based on their interests, whereas others make their choice based on their parent's wishes. There are also students who make their choice based on their friend's choice. But slowly and surely the real picture opens up. In the first few months itself it becomes a fact that many of us are unable to cope with the course we have undertaken. Many students get depressed and frustrated in such situations and even choose to leave the course mid-way. But friends, stop for a while and think carefully about a few points on the course you have selected.

It is important that you give yourself an opportunity with this course. First, you should find out the reason on why you are not able to study. You should not take any decisions based on your emotions, but give yourself some more to think and then implement your decision. The course you are studying, may be complete 50% or even 100% complete, in such situations the smart decision would be to complete the course. Hence, it is important that you complete the course you are studying and then change over to another course.

We should always remember that competition is getting intense in all fields by the day. Based on the increasing percentage there are limited seats available in educational institutions. Therefore, leaving a course mid-way would not be a smart decision. Students are of the opinion that they have to compulsorily make their career choice after Class 10 and 12. However, you can decide your career after graduation also, which is why it is appropriate to complete the course you have chosen.

Be patient and have a positive mind. Study hard and complete the given syllabus. If you successfully complete this course, then you can search and choose other options after graduation.

If you leave this course and take up another one, gather information, make complete preparation to secure admission and achieve your goal. This will help to double your confidence, develop your skills, increase your knowledge and will help open many windows of opportunities.
